

Medical Barbarism

Dear IMVA,

"If, as the evidence suggests, our public-health authorities knowingly allowed the pharmaceutical industry to poison an entire generation of American children, their actions arguably constitute one of the biggest scandals in the annals of American medicine," said Robert F Kennedy Jr. You can see all his words that describe the history of thimerosal in vaccines at:

Below is some spontaneous thoughts and feelings expressed after reading Kennedy's essay tonight. So strong are these sentiments that I doubted for a minute the safety of publishing. So I published to just a few people and got back from Dr. Jaquelyn McCandless the following words. "Mark: My sentiments, exactly! I've already sent this superb article to everyone I can think of. Go for it!" So feeling less alone and supported by a being I respect greatly, I, who am not normally short of courage present the following.

This statement by Robert F Kennedy Jr. is actually a vast understatement though courageous coming from anyone associated with the mainstream of society. The evidence suggests that the above is true and thus we are talking about a cruel and barbaric intellectual monstrosity that will go down in the history books with Adolph Hitler and the worst of his gang, Stalin, Mao, Pol Pot and a long list of others. We have accepted that history and life is lined with cruel people, indecent and hideous. What we have not accepted are the lessons from World War II and the Nuremberg Trials that show that doctors and medical officials can compete with the worst of the worst humans that have walked this earth. That American medical officials at the CDC and the FDA have joined this club is still a surprise, still a shock, still unspeakable. What we have seen is the extent that intellectual thought and medicine can combine to create an evil that has no equal.

That Kennedy is joining a long list of men like Dr. Boyd Haley, who is knocking down the doors of Washington and other places with the mercury story, is significant. For those of us who have been following the stories of parents whose children have died after vaccine shots and the almost unlimited number of kids who have suffered mild to severe neurological damage we can only shout, scream, applaud, and kick up a cloud of dust to support the revolution in consciousness that has to end with many important people behind bars. It's a cruel truth that is threatening the power elite in government and industry. The walls of Jericho at the CDC, the FDA, the IOM, ADA, APA and the AMA have to be blown down by our rising voices because all of these organizations are involved in the cover up. Hideous crimes against humanity are happening today and will happen for sure tomorrow and everyday until we stop these people dead in their tracks.

Everybody who has a printer should print out copies of Kennedy's words and hand them out to friends and neighbors. Perhaps Kennedy is acting as a modern day Paul Revere. A man of substance is standing up and pointing the finger at the truth. Its time for us all to act, to storm, to rage in indignation, to point our fingers like Kennedy is doing. Passivity certainly is not called for when confronted with denial from medically insane experts who can see no further then their own Lilly White self-images of supreme goodness.

What we are seeing in reality is a rip in the very fabric of modern day civilization. Our very ideas of civilized behavior and intellectual accomplishment, science and medicine, government and industry are going to be ripped apart when the full truth comes out. It is only a matter of time but the resistance to this truth is strong for the downside is enormous. Families of autistic children and families who have lost their children and families who have had members thrown in jail accused of murdering their own children (after vaccines have been administered) have had to shoulder an intolerable burden. There is no more important issue in the world today then stopping these officials and pulling them from their offices and getting them behind bars for to not do that means tomorrow many thousands of children will be chemically attacked with thimerosal and other toxic substances in these vaccines.

It's hard to write about these things and be civilized when faced with medical barbarism. We are faced with a generation of medical barbarians who think they are the smartest, kindest most caring people in the world. That this has happened speaks ill of our modern civilization. It has taken the concerted efforts of thousands of families raising hell to get anyone in authority to listen. Perhaps now some will with Robert F Kennedy Jr. speaking up so powerfully. It seems many things are slated to collapse in the next few years but we must hope with all our hearts that the walls of modern medicine will fall fast. And that pharmaceutical companies like Eli Lilly will be taken apart and all significant people involved with it called to task.
