

A new U.S. study has confirmed the link between MMR vaccine and autism

Dear VRAN Members & Friends,

A new U.S. study has confirmed the link between MMR vaccine and autism and is being presented this week in Montreal at the International Conference for Autism Research in Montreal. "American researchers have revealed that 85 per cent of samples taken from autistic children with bowel disorders contain the virus. The strain is the same as the one used in the measles, mumps and rubella triple vaccine."

In 1998, The Lancet published a study by British gastroendocrinologist Dr. Andrew Wakefield who discovered a new bowel disease in some children who developed autism following the triple live virus MMR vaccine (measles, mumps, rubella). Subsequently, scientists found that some of these children also harboured particles of measles virus in their gut while other researchers found measles virus in the cerebrospinal fluid of children who had regressed into autism shortly after injection with the MMR vaccine.

To protect its almighty vaccine program, orthodox medicine descended on Wakefield with guns blazing. They mounted an all out villification campaign against him personally and trashed his work. They then set out to disprove any link between MMR vaccine and regressive autism. But despite a series of flawed epidemiological studies, monopoly medicine has not been able to quash the indictment against MMR vaccine. Parents whose children have regressed into autism shortly after MMR vaccine know that this triple live virus vaccine is somehow implicated.

Now Dr. Wakefield's work has been replicated by American researchers, and not a minute too soon as the U.S. starts mass vaccination of its children with Proquad, the new quadruple live virus vaccine which combines measles, mumps, rubella and chickenpox in one shot. If children's fragile immune systems can't handle 3 live viruses, adding a fourth will certainly magnify and intensify the disastrous autism epidemic.

We concur with Barbara Loe Fisher's statement:

"Public health officials, drug companies, and pediatricians promoting injecting children with multiple vaccines - like the new MMRV vaccine - without regard to individual genetic and other biological differences do not want to face the facts about vaccine risks. They would rather hide their collective heads in the sand. How many more vulnerable children have to be crippled, how many more families lives destroyed because too many doctors refuse to see what is happening before their eyes? America is reaping a bitter harvest of children too sick to function in society because we have been unwilling to put restraints on the elitist M.D./Ph.D. vaccinologists demanding blind adherence to one-size-fits-all mass vaccination policies."
